Dear Mr. Price:

Though it may tax the ingenuity of the Royal Canadian mail service to find you with so meagre an address, I hope this may reach you.

Your son Bill and another boy were our guests a week ago to-nite. The Boychoir gave a fine concert in our High School auditorium. They had come from Indianapolis, Indiana and were on their way to Xenia, Ohio.

We were much interested to hear about Flin Flon and were amazed to find how far north it is on the map. Bill says you are a field geologist in the mining industry. This must be highly specialized and interesting work.

My wife and I genuinely enjoyed having the boys with us and thought you might like to have word about them. Presumably they have limited chances
